

About the platform

The platform took off in March 2018 and is currently one of the fastest growing crypto exchanges. CoinDeal is created by three Poles, who have vast experience in cryptocurrency and blockchain technology industry – Adam Bicz, Filip Dzierżak and Kajetan Maćkowiak. They proved that a few months is enough to becoming one of the largest crypto exchanges globally, reaching as high as the 40th place on CoinMarketCap's top-100 cryptocurrency exchanges based on trading volume (24h).

There are over 40 cryptocurrency pairs on CoinDeal – including the most popular ones, mostly paired with Bitcoin (BTC), but also with Ripple (XRP) or Ethereum (ETH) and fiat currencies like Euro (EUR), Dollar (USD), Pound (GBP), Polish Zloty (PLN), Ruble (Rub) or Korean Won (KRW). The number of available coins is growing very fast – new cryptocurrencies appear most often through the voting system of the involved community. Thanks to this, users have a real influence on the future shape of the exchange. The voting process can be followed here.

Deposit and withdrawal options are now available in the following currencies: CHECK MARKETS. In addition, you can use a credit card to buy BTC through a trusted partner platform – BuyCoinNow.com – and send it straight to the CoinDeal wallet.

The platform offers frequent promotions and an affiliate program to its new and regular users, where you can receive 20% of their transaction fees for inviting your friends to register and trade. Users are also often surprised by promotional events on CoinDeal like fee discount on some markets or airdrops.

Premium

CoinDeal was also the first in the world to launch such a comprehensive program as Premium for more demanding traders. Premium accounts have access to features such as: lower maker and taker fees, private chat and ticket line, public and private Telegram channel, fast track verification and customer support priority. Soon the company will present two additional options: a possibility to vote two times per day for the next coin to be added to the platform and also, having an opportunity to request new features on the platform, which will be treated with a high level of priority.

Security

The users are offered transparent funds and the most advanced security standards. Exchange users are protected by complex password requirements, mandatory 2FA (two-step authentication), email confirmations for withdrawals and warnings about attempts to login from different IP addresses than usual.

The platform provides the API for its users, the documentation is available at:

CoinDeal is a good place not only for world-oriented cryptocurrency lovers.

In case of any doubts or problems, users can count on the quick support of the technical team, available 24/7, communicating in several languages. The market is expanding its already colorful channel on YouTube – where apart from animations and general tutorials, the user will soon find guides and necessary information from the world of cryptocurrencies.

All materials before logging in are available in English, Chinese, German, Korean, Polish and Russian, and further language versions are also planned. The CoinDeal team is also working on a mobile application platform in iOS/Android versions, which about you will probably hear soon.

Constant development

CoinDeal recently moved its headquarters from Cyprus to Malta and obtained the MDIA safety certificate. CoinDeal team has its eyes set on moving onto the US market and expect to be available in some states as early as by the end of 2019.

In July 2018, the exchange became the official partner of Wolverhampton Wanderers FC, a team plays in the Premier League in the 2018/19 season. The CoinDeal logo decorates players' shirts, and appears on Molineux Stadium advertising bands. It is first that big cooperation between cryptocurrency exchange platform and a football team as well known as Wolverhampton Wanderers. One of the founders Kajetan Maćkowiak says about that cooperation:

“At CoinDeal, we are acutely aware of the impact that football marketing can have on our brand. We believe that Wolves will help us reach sports and trading fans all over the world.”

The CoinDeal team is also involved in charity events, including for the benefit of the Wrocław Foundation “On the rescue of children with cancer”. Cryptocurrency exchange market creators are already planning to help those who need it most.
